

ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.

—A little sleighing yesterday.

—We do not sound a needless alarm when we tell you that the taint of scrofula is in your blood. Inherited or acquired, it is there, and Ayer's Sarsaparilla alone will effectually eradicate it.

—Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer imparts a fine gloss and freshness to the hair, and is highly recommended by physicians, clergymen, and scientists, as a preparation accomplishing wonderful results. It is a certain remedy for removing dandruff, making the scalp white and clean, and restoring gray hair to its youthful color.

—A bet of a new suit of clothes was offered and accepted on Saturday evening that Elko county will pay $20,000 in bounties on squirrel scalps alone within the next year. Here is a problem for our school boys: The bounty is one and one-half cents each. Suppose that the Justices' fees on each 100 scalps amounts to $1, and the bounty $1.50, how many scalps will be required to cost the county $20,000?

—A concurrent resolution has been introduced in the Nevada State Senate praying to Congress that the Postoffice Department be required to carry, on all routes where postal cars are run, gold and silver bullion and coin of the United States at prices not exceeding ordinary freight charges, on the roads where such cars are run. The adoption of this measure by Congress would save to the Government a large amount which is now paid to express companies, besides affording cheap transportation to shippers of bullion and gold and silver coin.—Salt Lake Democrat.

Artesian Wells.

In speaking of Powell's artesian well bill, the Silver State says:

This is a move in the right direction. Much has been said and written on the subject of storing water and sinking artesian wells for irrigating purposes, but the introduction of this bill is the first practical movement made by the Legislature towards accomplishing anything in that direction. A bounty of $2.50 per foot for the first flowing well in any locality where artesian water has not hitherto been found would be none too much, and it might induce people to try the experiment, while a bounty of $1.25 per foot might be too much for localities where artesian water had been found wherever a hole has been bored 150 feet.

Roll called, quorum present.

Prayer by Rev. J. L. Woods.

Journal read and approved.

On motion Senate Joint and Concurrent Resolution No. 12, relative to amending the Constitution of the United States, was taken up and the Senate resolved itself into Committee of the Whole for the consideration of the Assembly amendments to the Resolution, President pro tem in the chair.

By invitation Senator Stewart addressed the Senators on the subject and argued that the Mormon doctrine was diametrically opposed to the genius of American institutions and that the amendment, disfranchising all who professed the Mormon faith, should be adopted by the present Legislature.

The arguments of Mr. Stewart were plausible and seemed to convince his hearers that the amendments should prevail.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stewart's remarks the matter was fully discussed by Senators, Messrs. Briggs, Hardesty and Harris opposing the amendment for reasons explained by these gentlemen. The Committee of the Whole reported favorably on the amendment, in which the Senate concurred, and so the Resolution passed.

A QUEER INTERVIEW.

An Over Colored Report Contradicted.

On Friday last the Chronicle contained the following regarding the North Belle Isle:

T. C. Plunkett, one of the prominent business men of Tuscarora, arrived here this morning and is the guest of his nephew, Mr. Fred Plunkett, of this city. Mr. Plunkett predicts prosperous times in Tuscarora when the North Belle Isle mine changes hands at the next annual election. He says that if the property had been properly managed it would now be disbursing monthly dividends to shareholders, as there is a large body of high grade ore developed in the mine.

Mr. Plunkett authorizes the statement that the reports of hard rock and trouble with water are circulated for the purpose of frightening shareholders into throwing their stock on the market, to allow the present management an opportunity to buy it in at a low figure, it having lost the controlling interest through unloading prior to the discovery of the present valuable ore development.

Mr. T. C. Plunkett, to whom the above interview is ascribed, called at the APPEAL office yesterday and stated that he was not responsible for the above. He said:

"I met a Mr. Werrin in Virginia City a few days ago and he questioned about the property. He asked me if certain reports were not in circulation about the mine, etc. I answered, 'Such reports are circulated but I hear more of them here on the Comstock than in Tuscarora.' I disclaimed all personal knowledge of them but in answer to his query admitted that I had heard these reports. I was astonished when I saw him quoting me as authority as I had never believed these reports myself and considered them merely stock jobbing rumors. I did not ask him to contradict the interview for he had distorted the first talk so much that I feared the result of any further conversation with him. The article grossly misrepresented me. He did not during the talk let me know that he was connected with a newspaper."

Agricultural Society.

Just as soon as Governor Stevenson appoints the three new Directors of the State Agricultural Society a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture will be called and the preliminary work for the State Fair of 1887 be mapped out. The meeting of the Board will probably be held at the time the Cattle Association is in session in Reno which will be the first week in March.

Attention.

J. Dreyfuss, agent for B. Friedlander, fine custom tailor of San cisco, is to be found at the Arlington House with a lot of samples, etc., at prices to suit the times, go and see them. Will be on hand for three days.

IDAHO WILLING.

The Sentiment Changing Regarding Annexation.

The Evening Inter-Idaho says: When Senator Wm. M. Stewart visited Idaho about two months since and sprung his scheme for the annexation of Southern Idaho to the State of Nevada, he met with very little encouragement. The people hardly comprehended the magnitude and importance of the measure. Nevada had always been regarded as a hopelessly bankrupt State and the scheme was looked upon by the people of this Territory as a shrewd attempt to secure additional territory in order to replete an exhausted exchequer. The proposition was first brought to light in Boise City, and the papers of that town, and the people also, naturally fought the move from its first inception. Annexation to Nevada meant the removal of the Capital from Boise City, and the consequent death and burial of that town. Without the Capital Boise would speedily dwindle into utter insignificance. Realizing this, the people of that town were loudly outspoken in their objections. The Territorial press, with a few exceptions, taking their cue from Boise City, were hostile towards the scheme. None of them, probably thoroughly comprehended it, but the discussion which was aroused has served to set people to thinking, and the annexation scheme does not look as it did two months ago. The bankruptcy of Nevada has been found to be a false idea. She has $400,000 in solid coin in the School Fund. This of itself, is no small matter. Her financial situation at the present time is not only satisfactory, but improving every day. She has two of the ablest Senators in the United States, and their influence alone would be of incalculable value to a young and struggling Territory like this. So much for Nevada.

The advantages of the annexation to Nevada of the Southern portion of Idaho are various, while the disadvantages are really very few. It is now almost certain that the Panhandle will go to Washington Territory, and that Territory admitted as a State. This will virtually kill all hopes of a speedy admission of Idaho as a State. The babe unborn will hardly live long enough to see these hopes realized, should the Panhandle be segregated. The idea of always remaining a weak and unimportant little Territory—the weakest of all—is certainly most distasteful to every one. And yet this is the almost certain fate of Southern Idaho, if Northern Idaho goes, as she probably will.

With this undesirable fate staring us in the face, would it not be better—far better—to arrive at Statehood and comparative independence at a single jump by annexation to Nevada? There is no use in attempting to disguise the fact that the measure is constantly and rapidly growing in popularity all over Southern Idaho, and will continue to grow as the people begin to consider and understand it. Probably a two-thirds of the people of Alturas county favor the annexation at this very moment, while the other one-third are wavering and uncertain in their inclinations.

Considering everything; the probable segregation of the Pan-Handle to Washington, the almost hopeless chances of Statehood in that event; the strong probabilities of remaining an insignificant territory for the next half century; it would seem the part of wisdom to petition for the speedy annexation of this portion of the territory to the State of Nevada.

Supreme Court Decisions.

It will be remembered that about two weeks ago suit was brought by the Carson school authorities, against the Superintendent of Public Instruction to compel him to include the 50 wards now in the State Orphans' Home in fixing the basis of apportionment of State school moneys. The Court has just decided that the wards should not be included in the census, hence Carson School District is not entitled to school moneys arising therefrom. Until two years ago Carson School District has received State school moneys for these State wards who were being educated in the Home school from funds set apart by special State appropriation.
